A "learning organization" is one in which people at all levels, individually and collectively, are continually increasing their capacity to produce results they really care about. This seminar will focus on using data to develop a continuous learning organization inclusive of quality planning, professional development and on-going evaluation that results in innovative ways to change, grow, improve, take risks and learn from mistakes.

Specifically, participants will:

- Plan action strategies for differentiated instruction that meet the learning needs of students;
- Use the Michigan School Improvement Framework to guide action planning;
- Learn multiple measures to develop school improvement strategies and evaluate outcomes;
- Learn how data and school improvement planning supports and develops staff knowledge and abilities to improve student achievement.
